SOCIALISTS IN ASSEMBLY DENIED SEATS

Questioned Loyalty,

MEET ASSAILS PARTY

Speaker Declares Membership
Disqualifies Socialists From Serving the State

Washington, Jan. 7.—The Socialists in assembly—five in number—were denied their seats by resolutions of the body today. The action was taken on their questioned loyalty. The judiciary committee of the assembly decides whether they are eligible to take their seats, they will be denied all rights and privileges of members.

The men ousted from the chamber are August Claessens of New York, party leader; Samuel A. Dewitt, Samuel Orr, of the Bronx; ries Solomon of Kings, and Louis dman of New York.

The preamble of the resolution defining them admission to the floor sets that their allegiance to their party disqualifies them from serving the state. It declares that the August convention of the Socialist party in Chicago declared adherence and solidarity with the revolutionary party of Russia and pledged its members the furtherance of the internationalist revolution; that by such adherence and declarations the Socialist party has endorsed the principle of Communist International now being held at Moscow, which is pledged to be forcible and violent overthrow of existing organized governments; the constitution of the Socialist party of America requires each member to subscribe to the principle that his political actions while a member of the Socialist party he will be guided by the constitution and form of the party; and that a member may be expelled or suspended from his party "for failing or refusing, in elected to public office" to carry out such instructions as he may have received from the party organization.

Action Came Suddenly.

The preamble also referred to resolutions adopted at the Socialist national convention at St. Louis in April, opposing participation in the with Germany.

The action of the assembly came as a dramatic unexpectedness. Resolution were the order of the day.

Speaker Thaddeus C. et directed the sergeant-at-arms, W. Haines, to bring the Socialist members before the bar of the house. When the five men were lined before him, the speaker said: "You are seeking seats in this body who have been elected on a form that is absolutely financial, the best interests of the state of New York and of the United States. The platform is the doctrine of the Socialist party. It is not truly a political party, but is a membership organization, admitting within its ranks all enemy aliens, and minors."

Coming from the section of the nation of the Socialist party that uses all members to be guided in their political actions by the constitution and platform of the party, Speaker Sweet said:

"It is interesting to note that Ludwig C. A. Martens, the self-styled ambassador, became a member of the Socialist party upon his entry into this country and took part in its operations. It is therefore quite evident that you in spite of your oath, are bound to act subject to actions received from an executive committee which may be made in whole or in part of aliens or enemies, holding allegiance to governments or organizations whose best interests may be diametrically opposed to the best interests of the United States."

Including Speaker Sweet said: "It is every citizen's right to his day, if this house should adopt a resolution declaring your seats suspended during a hearing before a committee of this house, you will be given opportunity to prove your right to be in this body."

Subsidiary Vote Against Socialists

soon as the speaker had finished, Leader Simon L. Adler of the 110 Republicans and 113 Democrats responded to the resolution.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

State of New York, Executive Chamber.

Albany, January 7, 1920.

To the Legislature:

This time a year ago we were in the immediate wake of war and many of the things that appeared to be problems have been happily taken care of by the ingenuity of our people themselves.

Much of the dissatisfaction spoken of and written about has been largely exaggerated. Work is plentiful, and the general condition of prosperity among our people is shown by bank balances and savings bank deposits.

The state of New York contributed 425,000 of its people to the active forces engaged in the great war. Their deeds constitute a brilliant page in our history. Enriched by their experience, they have returned determined to preserve the institutions and ideals of America against her enemies at home or abroad.

Much remains for the government itself to do all, while we have no reason in this life to expect perfection in any line of endeavor, we have reason to expect progress consistent with experience and the enlightened age in which we live.

You are opening your session to deal with questions affecting the life, health, happiness and prosperity of the people of the greatest state in the Union, now the market place of all the world. Let us unite in our prayers to Divine Providence that we may be given the light to see the right and to do it.

Ratification of Peace Treaty.

Over a year has passed since the great war ended. The delirium of joy which swept throughout the land when the armistice was signed thirteen months ago will never be forgotten by man, woman or child of this generation. It expressed the triumph of the leading principle for which this greatest of all wars in history was waged, so eloquently set forth by President Wilson, that no nation should be governed except with the consent of the governed. This is what I understand to be the right of national self-determination. It is the basis of our Declaration of Independence, and it is the desire and hope of all Americans that the right of self-determination be guaranteed to the smaller nations of the world, and that this principle be applied to every oppressed people struggling for that freedom and self-expression by which America achieved her great place in the society of nations.

In the joy of our people was also expressed a profound yearning to return to the normal paths of industry and peace. Nevertheless, although hostilities ceased thirteen months ago, technically a state of war still exists between this country and the central powers of Europe.

Readjustment to peace conditions in industry and social life has been made difficult by uncertainty, which has greatly contributed to the business and industrial unrest through which we have passed and from which we are still suffering. Our people look longingly to the federal government at Washington to do away with this existing uncertainty by solving the international problems in the interest of all the people without thought of partisan political advantage.

Successful competition of our country in the growing world trade offered us and continued commercial pre-eminence of our state require a speedy settlement of the terms of peace.

The stimulation of industry and the stability of our commercial enterprises will be furthered by the prompt disposition of the pending treaty in the United States senate. In urging the earliest possible ratification of the treaty of peace, I am expressing the sentiment of the people of this state without regard to their political affiliations.

I therefore recommend to your honorable bodies the passage of a resolution calling upon the United States senators from the state of New York to assist in the immediate ratification of the treaty of peace.

An old enemy of orderly government and organized society has appeared under a new mask. It is called Bolshevism. It thrives on chaos and discontent. It prospers under such conditions as arise from a great war—discontent, insecurity, the high cost of living, and the evils growing out of the unnatural conditions of war. We seem to have emerged from war of arms to a war of ideas. I have profound faith in the truth of the American ideal triumphantly to resist Bolshevism and unreasoning radicalism. These are at present receiving an unnecessary amount of advertising, on which they thrive.

We are a government by the will of the majority. No other kind of rule is democracy to an American. To ascertain that will by free public discussion. Such rights as that of free speech and free assembly are fundamental, for without them government by enlightened will of the majority is not possible.

During the war in the interest of national unity and for our common defense against our enemy every sane American relinquished some of his freedom.

Now that the war is over, we should return to a normal state of mind and keep our balance and an even keel.

The anarchist, the violent revolutionist, the underminer of our institutions should receive no mercy at our hands. He does not belong here. But while we should be relentless toward this type of distorted personalities, we must not confuse them with the hundreds of thousands of our brothers of alien stock, who have made America their home and who have helped to build up our great nation by self-respecting labor and their citizenship. Their sons have added justice to our name in the battlefields of the great war. Let us remember them now, and let us resent as sinister and as a new expression of the old know-nothing spirit, the attacking to all citizens of foreign birth and stigma of radicalism.

I express myself thus feelingly because I know them. I have lived among them. Many of them have been my friends and neighbors. The discontent among them is often the natural home-sickness of men and women who do not yet feel at home in their new surroundings. Some of it is due to an exploitation of the helpless and ignorant. Such discontent every red-blooded man resents. It is different from the destructive spirit of revolutionary firebrands. It should be met by a constructive movement of Americanization, which will make them understand and respect the ideals of America and make them feel at home. The state needs and welcomes its citizenship the best that the old world has to give us.

Appreciating as I do the fundamental wholesomeness of the citizen of foreign birth, I am mindful of the danger of spreading the infection of revolutionary propaganda among them. We must immunize them against the infection, by approaching the problem in a spirit of sanity, a thorough and sympathetic understanding and a fearless and courageous meeting of their needs. This is the fundamental basis of any Americanization program.

In this connection we must recognize the necessity of a sound program of social, industrial and governmental betterment, which will remove those causes of discontent which true Americanism requires should be eradicated. This is the basis for my program of reconstruction.

Problems of Reconstruction.

Early in the year 1919, in accordance with my first message to the legislature, I appointed a Reconstruction Commission made up of prominent men and women taken from different walks of life to study the problems of reconstruction and to make recommendations looking to their solution.

I will take up with your honorable bodies in detail at a later date their reports on the various subjects dealt with. These include, principally, a program of retrenchment through the reorganization of the state government and the establishment of an effective executive budget, housing, health, certain educational matters and amendments to our food laws.

The members of the Reconstruction Commission gave unselfishly of their time and energy, as well as of their own resources, for the welfare of the people of this state. No words of mine would be at all adequate to express the gratitude we should feel for their earnest and unselfish endeavors.

Their reports and recommendations, which will be transmitted to you in due time, will speak for themselves. They represent careful, painstaking and intelligent study, and indicate in every particular that the problems of reconstruction were met by a patriotic citizenship with the same zest and the same spirit with which they approached the solution of our war problems. Their recommendations are far-reaching and fundamental and warrant me in bringing them to your attention as subject matter of a special message.

Eighteenth Amendment.

Many of the best constitutional authorities in the country seriously question whether the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution was ever legally adopted. Some of those questions are now before the Supreme Court of the United States, some presented by citizens and some by at least one of the states of the Union. I shall not enter into any discussion of the various grounds upon which this contention is based, but simply present to you some phases of the question and ask for your consideration and action upon them.

There is grave doubt as to the power of a number of the state legislatures that have ratified the Eighteenth Amendment to do so in view of the referendum provisions of their respective constitutions vesting legislative power in the electorate. The question seems to depend upon the constitutions of the different states.

Two of the most eminent constitutional lawyers in this state have considered this question and given written opinions in regard to it, in which they state:

"Until the question of the effect of these referendum provisions is finally decided, it seems to us that it would be proper and prudent to assume that it may be held by the courts that adverse action on the referendum will nullify the ratification and that thereby the number of states only ratifying may be reduced to less than the three-fourths required."

It is my understanding that this question is to be passed upon by referendum in several of the states. Pending their action, and the ultimate decision thereon, the question as to whether the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution has been legally adopted may be considered an open question, not only in fact but in law.

The last session of the legislature passed a resolution ratifying the Eighteenth Amendment. Can that resolution be rescinded? The same eminent counsel that I have before referred to have also passed upon this question and have pronounced the opinion that—

"Where a state legislature has ratified an amendment but before it has become effective by a ratification of three-fourths of the several states, it appears that there has been a change of circumstances or opinion, then the state legislature has the power and ought to voice such change by a resolution of secession, to the end that the other states may be advised of the true opinion and position of the state in regard to the amendment."

If then, the question is pending in several of the states sufficient in number of themselves or joined with the state of New York to reduce the number ratifying the Eighteenth Amendment below the necessary three-

STOCK DEALINGS ARE VISIBLY RESTRAINED

Reserve Board's Intimations
Chief Topic of Discussion—
Little Inquiry for Call Loans

New York, Jan. 7.—Stock dealings were visibly restrained today, presumably as a result of intimations conveyed to banking interests yesterday by the Federal Reserve board. This was less apparent in the trend of prices than in the market's extreme lassitude.

There was much abstracted discussion regarding the definition of "unessential loans." Mature consideration of Governor Harding's remarks in that connection led to the conclusion that credit restrictions are to apply with equal force to speculation in leading commodities, especially cotton and foodstuffs.

The only echo of the conference at Washington was the announcement of another slight advance by the local branch of the central bank in short-term acceptances, such action being taken to meet the prevailing rate in the open market.

Banks and other lenders of money reported little inquiry for call loans, which were freely offered at 7 per cent, establishing yet another low record for such accommodations since the November reaction, but the supply of time funds was altogether negligible.

General news included the reviews of authorities in the steel and iron industries, renewed emphasis being placed on the prospective demands of railways for new construction and equipment. Further large orders for copper attest to the steady improvement in the metal trades.

Steels, shiplings, coppers, and a few familiar specialties such as American Woolen, Industrial Alcohol, Endicott-Johnson, and sugars, contributed to the stronger side of the market, while motors, oils and rails represented the dull and irregular features.

Sales amounted to $90,000 shares.

Liberty bonds were heavy, international featureless, and most domestic issues irregular, except local tractions, in which moderate gains were made. Total sales, par value, aggregated $17,750,000. Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Really and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and bated cough disappears entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic cough, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

The message of Governor Smith, which yesterday was submitted to the legislature of the state of New York, contains many suggestions of interest, the larger number of which, though probably not all, will meet with popular approval. One which will be received with the greatest dissent is that which recommends that, inasmuch as other states have submitted the ratification of the eighteenth constitutional amendment—regarding prohibition—to their electorate for a referendum vote, the legislature of New York should do the same thing, at the same time rescinding its prior ratification of the amendment. There is very little likelihood that the legislature will take such action, and still less that the voters of the state would by referendum favor bringing back the old conditions.

Another recommendation of the governor is that the legislature pass a resolution calling upon the United States senators from this state immediately to vote for ratification of the treaty of peace.

Regarding labor legislation and labor troubles he emphasizes, and very properly, the fact that a bargain made by laborers acting as a unit or union should sacredly be kept by them. A determining factor in the cost of production, and, so of sales prices and contracts, is the labor item; and no settled and prosperous condition can exist where there are such uncertainties. Hours of labor, he believes, should be fixed at a minimum of eight for minors and women; and he holds that the Workmen's compensation act should be so amended as to include in cases under its provisions not only accidental injuries but also occupational injuries and diseases. A bureau is also recommended which will adequately supervise the care and rehabilitation of cripples.

The matter of public health is also considered with liberal provisions for that department and the abolishing of the Department of Narcotic Control, which he holds, and apparently with justice, is properly a bureau of the Department of Health. He also favors health and maternity insurance for industrial workers, but with the worker permitted to have the physician of his own choice.

Under the head of "Public Education" it is recommended that military training, now entrusted to a separate commission, should be entrusted to the State Education department, of which he considers it properly a part.

Other matters considered are the proper education and maintenance of mental defectives, the increase of salaries in state hospitals, a State Milk commission, the amendment of the agricultural law, which in a later message will be treated at large; the giving of more power to the Public Service commissions, so that they may enforce their orders; additional laws enabling municipalities to acquire and operate public utilities, water storage and the conservation of undeveloped water power; further appropriations for the barge canal and terminals, including grain elevators; the appointment of an unpaid committee to cooperate with the Commissioner of Highways in the development of rural motor express routes; amendment of the State Military law to conform with measures likely to be enacted by congress regarding the National Guard, and many others.

Of interest to all is the statement of the Governor that the cost of collecting the state income tax this year will be over one million dollars. This sum he considers too large, and he recommends that the collection burden be placed on cities, villages and towns which share 50-50 in the sum received and are at no expense for collection.

Cities, also, will be interested in the paragraphs which urge a larger measure of home rule for municipalities. Every year many bills are submitted to the legislature which are purely local in their nature and refer to matters which the cities and villages operating under state charters should have the power of settling for themselves. If in order to grant this power the constitution would require amendment, then, the Governor believes the necessary amendments should be made.

Altogether the message is a document of value and interest. It treats entirely upon matters in which the citizens of the Empire state are interested; and if all his conclusions are not fully agreed with, at least they are presented so clearly and fully that no one need be in darkness as to the course of reasoning which has been made.

Local Trolley Service.

Editor Star:—

Dear Sir: I was interested, in reading Mayor Ceperley's report in this morning's Star, to note his remarks regarding the trolley service on the Normal line, particularly as to the needs of putting the line in good order, and that the same would result in increased patronage.

In reading the same, I was impressed, as I have been many times before, with the thought that if the trolley company would make a little extra effort to accommodate the traveling public, it would yield a good return for the effort in increased patronage. I live in the East End and am quite frequently obliged to come in over the D. & H. lines and almost always either have to use a taxi, walk, or else wait at corner of Broad street from 20 to 40 minutes for a car. A few nights ago, with eight other persons, all unknown to me, I waited in the cold at the above mentioned corner, for 25 minutes, and the whole crowd became disgusted with the wait and walked home.

If the company would and I believe they could arrange to have a car meet the regular trains, waiting if need be for a few minutes at the corner of Broad, it would, I am sure, give increased patronage, and would surely be an accommodation.

Yours very truly,
H. M. MOORE

Herriff Says:

There'll be a "hot time in the old town" of Moscow, when Emma and Alex and the rest of the Red nosed, black whiskered Bolsheviks from the U. S. A. arrive.

When they see the new styles in men's horse-blankets, they'll be pretty mad and probably will start right in to figure out how they can get back white style in hair cuts and clothes cuts. We hope they'll never get far enough away from dear old Russia to melt the snow off their boots and in the meantime we'll keep on specializing in styles for real Americans in Oneonta.

AN EXCELLENT SELECTION

SUPERVISORS NAME U. A. FERGUSON CHAIRMAN OF BOARD.

Six Years of Faithful Service Crowned by Highest Honor County Legislators Can Bestow—Ability Long Recognized by Important Committee Designations.

The many friends of Urill A. Ferguson, supervisor from the first and second wards of the city of Oneonta, will congratulate him on the signal honor bestowed upon him yesterday at Cooperstown by the new board, which as its first important act elected him as chairman of that body and when opportunity offers they will also congratulate his associates on the board on the good judgment which they displayed in the selection of a presiding officer.

Mr. Ferguson, whose portrait, through the courtesy of the Freeman's Journal, is reproduced herewith, has been from early life a resident of Oneonta. He was for eighteen years engaged in mercantile business here and during this period he was also deeply interested in military affairs, enlisting in Company G and rising through the ranks to the position of captain, which he held during the Spanish-American war, commanding his company with credit and distinction during its entire period of service, most of which was spent in the Hawaiian Islands.

Chairman Ferguson's period of service in the board of supervisors began six years ago, when he succeeded the late R. W. Miller as representative from the First Oneonta district. Since that time he has been thrice re-elected, and always by substantial majorities, a fact which speaks eloquently of the quality of his work. He has been a member of numerous important committees, one of them being that which had charge of the erection of the county tuberculosis hospital; and so uniformly well was his work performed that it is not to be wondered at that the choice of the board for chairman fell at this time upon him. That he will serve the county with the same diligence and ability which has marked his entire career in the board is the confident belief of all who know him.

PRINCE OF WALES WILL BREED RACE HORSES IN ALBERTA

Looking over his farm

CALGARY, Alta.—Kentucky must look to her laurels. The Prince of Wales during his stay in western Canada purchased a 1,600-acre farm and announced he would breed thoroughbred horses and would import his foundation stock from the royal stud in England.

Southern Alberta with its abundant sunshine, all-year pasturage of natural grasses, and its pure water from mountain streams always has been a noted horse country. The prince's venture bids fair to make it in time the Bluegrass region of Canada.

The kings of England have maintained breeding farms and racing stables for centuries. Their horses always have been of the most aristocratic blood lines in the world, and at one time or another have annexed all the great classics of the English turf. King Edward VII, grandfather of the present Prince of Wales, won the derby twice, once with Persimmon in 1896 and again with Diamond Jubilee in 1900.

"I want to have a permanent home among the people of the West," said the Prince of Wales, "where I can come sometimes and live for a while. To this end I purchased my farm and I shall look forward to developing it and making it my own."

This statement indicates that the prince will embark in the breeding of thoroughbreds in a serious business-

Chestnut street is much better and up around, after her recent attack of grip.

To Fill the Blundon Box.

The Blundon box will be packed at the home of Mrs. William Richards, 119 Chestnut street, today, Thursday. All who have not already done so, please bring in articles to the box may be accepted.

Suffering from Shell Shock.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Donovan of 261 Chestnut street have gone to Virginia, where the former's brother, Senator Donovan, has just returned from overseas and is very ill in the soldiers' hospital. He was shell shocked.

Town Talk.

Miss Emily Kilkenney has returned to Syracuse university, after spending the holiday vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Kilkenney, Lower Chestnut street.

Miss Alice More has returned to Pine Hill, after spending a few days with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Burgett, 10 West End avenue.

Miss Clara Youngman of Emmaus spent Tuesday with her cousin, Mrs. C. L. Griffin, 2 Harrison avenue.

Miss Mildred Bouck and Sidney Bouck of 292 Chestnut street have returned home, after spending a few days with relatives at Delmar.

Miss Florence Rose of 10 West End avenue has returned to her school duties at the Normal, after spending the holidays with her father, Elbert Rose, of Pine Hill.

Misses Helen and Doris Maybie, who are staying with their aunt, Mrs. E. W. Haner, of 40 West End avenue, have returned here after spending the holidays with their parents at South Valley.

"TEA FOR THREE" A DELIGHT.

Work of Charlotte Walker and Ernest Lawford Gives Charm to Comedy.

Undoubtedly one of the most appreciative and certainly one of the most attentive audiences of the present season witnessed the presentation of "Tea for Three" last evening at the Oneonta theatre by the Selwyns, with Charlotte Walker and Ernest Lawford giving life and reality to the many absorbing scenes of the cleverly conceived and well worded comedy of Mr. Megrue, their excellent work surpassing beyond question that of any other members of the cast.

In fact, Mr. Simon as the valet detracted none from the merit of the production, and Miss Haden, who is the daughter of the leading lady, made a creditable maid, she having, however, little of the exacting work of the play.

The play, while well staged and gowned, required few accessories to win success, although they enhanced its attractiveness, the lines when intelligently handled, as they surely were, being sufficient to afford the maximum of enjoyment and pleasure to all.

The play centers about the experiences of a busy man of the world with a beautiful wife who finds her girlhood interesting and entertaining, resulting in a case of extreme jealousy on the part of the husband, and in the many laughable and intensely interesting scenes created, an evening of keen enjoyment is experienced. Such, we believe, will be the universal expression of all who witnessed it.

There were many from nearby villages present to witness the production, including Mr. and Mrs. George H. White and Dr. and Mrs. B. W. Dewar of Cooperstown, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Vanderwerken and daughters, Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Ford and Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Waite of Otego.

It will doubtless interest many who revel in the artistic work of Charlotte Walker to know that she was a classmate of Mrs. Frank A. Herrell at Fort Plain years ago and that while in the city she called upon Mrs. Herrell and enjoyed recalling experiences at the institute of former days.

This wonderful invention of George Thomas a gas fitter of Edinburgh, Scotland enables an armless man to do anything a man with two arms can do. It is worked by the feet. He recently gave an exhibition at the Ministry of Pensions in his home town in England which astounded the onlookers. This photo shows the inventor seated, demonstrating how the machine can be used for writing.

FOR GENERAL CONFERENCE.

Popular Schenckus Banker Endorsed For Lay Delegate by Methodists

Schenckus, Jan 7.—At the fourth quarterly conference of the Schenckus Methodist Episcopal church, held last Sunday, George B. Lovell, the well known local banker, was endorsed for lay delegate to the General Conference of the Methodist church which will be held next May in Des Moines, Iowa.

Mr. Lovell is well known throughout the church circles of the district and conference, and is held in the highest esteem. He has been a member of the Methodist church for 35 years, secretary of the Sunday school for six years and treasurer of the official board for 20 years. He is also a member of the Storehouse Tithers association, being on the executive committee.

Mrs. Margaret Boon, widow of the late Rev. Leland L. Boon of this conference, is the daughter of Mr. Lovell.

As a banker in Schenckus Mr. Lovell is thoroughly conversant with the financial and other problems of the town and rural church, and is thoroughly capable of representing Oneonta district at this great assembly; for this district, as well as large portions of the other three districts are composed of the smaller town and rural churches.

The churches of the district and conference are fortunate in having such a capable representative in the field, and it is predicted that a united effort will be made on the district to send Mr. Lovell to the General Conference.
